Heaven on Earth

Meteorite

Wedding Rings

Heaven on Earth

A summer's eve, a star-studded night,
a streak of light...a meteorite
...Ancient iron from forever
makes contact with Earth this night.

We have carefully forged and inlaid a silvery-gray slice from the famous nickel-iron Gibeon Meteorite into your choice of 18K yellow gold or precious platinum.

Because this ring is forever, each ring is specially contoured with an inner surface as smooth as sunshine for ultimate comfort. The ring is pure magic. It is awe inspiring, ethereal, mystical, epic... heroic. You'll love the way it feels.

The journey continues at The Wedding Ring Store

GIBEON METEORITE

The Gibeon Meteorite is a precious metal from the heavens. It is known as the King of Irons because of its incomparable stability, beauty and durability.

Imagine a rock from another planet, a chunk of iron hurtling through deep space at 20-, 40-, 60,000 miles per hour, for over 4 billion years. Imagine this rock is finally caught by Earth's gravitational pull, blasting into our atmosphere as a fireball streaking through the night sky, separating into thousands of smaller pieces and scattering across a desert in western Africa. The arrival of the Gibeon Meteorite took place 30,000 years ago over what is today the country of Namibia. The Gibeon is unlike any iron found native to Earth. It is denser and heavier than earthly irons. It is 92% iron, 7% nickel, 1% cobalt, plus a mixture of other rare elements. The Gibeon possesses properties that allow it to be bent, folded, brazed, and welded. Its natural alloy of metals allowed primitive man in the fall area, the ability to make spear points and tools thousands of years before Europe entered the Iron Age.

The combination of the Gibeon's rare elements and resulting superior metallurgical properties have also made this metal from the stars ideal for use in jewelry. We are now handcrafting fine jewelry by combining this talisman of the stars with precious gold and platinum into objects of wonder to have, to hold, and to cherish always.

WIDMANSTATTEN PATTERNS A slice of the Gibeon Meteorite polished smooth and etched with nitric acid produces something called the Widmanstatten Patterns. Slow crystal growth, cooling over thousands of years in deep space result in a tartan of crisscrossing angular lines. This is the music of the spheres, a score to the song of the universe written in ancient iron. As individual as fingerprints, no two slice patterns are ever the same and yet the patterns are eerily familiar, for they are the codex of the stars permanently recorded on the surface of the exposed Gibeon Meteorite.

RARITY How long will material from the Gibeon be available? Museums of the world have already secured the largest and finest specimens of the Gibeon for their collections. Science has secured the specimens it needs for research, leaving a finite quantity of the material for collectors, and even a smaller amount for use in jewelry.

We hope what remains lasts a long time but limited quantities of this space metal suggests that if you are considering a piece of jewelry made from the Gibeon a decision to do so sooner rather than later might be advised.

Baby Lobster Bracelet

Few have ever seen a baby lobster. Even some Mainers doubt the existence of perfectly formed miniature lobsters: one, two, and three inches long. As children we found them at full moon's lowest tides in shallow pools hiding beneath rocks in their kelp and seaweed nurseries.

The baby lobster is honored in our newest bracelet of dozens of little lobster links. Subtle, smooth, clean classic lines, understated... elegant. Secured of course by a handsome lobster claw clasp. Also available in a necklace.

SAILOR'S VALENTINE

A love token for your sweetheart

Sailors' valentines are a window into sentiment and love from the high seas of the 18th and 19th centuries. It was during this period that men returned from sea with their treasures from distant ports. One of the most popular gifts of love and devotion from this era were sailors' valentines, eight-sided mahogany boxes filled with elaborate patterns made from tiny sea shells... love tokens for their sweethearts at home.

In the spirit of this centuries-old custom we have created for modern man, miniature sailors' valentines to give to your sweetheart in your choice of silver, gold, or a blend of both.

Wishing Stone Lucky Stone Bracelet

From Maine island legend and lore
come two names for one stone

A wishing stone is a smooth sea-washed rock with a stripe. Each stone carries with it one wish.* Lucky stone is a beach rock, typically with a white stripe. Lucky stones are kept on window sills, mantles, bookcases, and bureaus. Also found on stairs, porches, and in gardens. A lucky stone kept in or around the home brings good fortune to all who reside within. Most wishing-lucky stones are black with a white stripe. During our quests for Maine coast stones, on rare occasions we have found stones of other colors with white stripes. Brightly colored wishing stones and lucky stones are among the rarest of all Maine coast stones.

Which is it, a lucky or wishing stone? The recipient gets to choose.

**MAINE ISLAND LORE: After a wish has been granted, its wish can be renewed by dipping in sea water.*

We Love Antique-Estate Pins

Pins travel through the centuries better than any other category of jewelry. They represent some of the most dramatic statements of an era... a reflection of how the world was, once upon a time. Worn today, they tell the story of American history and express the wearer's unique and individual personality better than any other category of jewelry. Because we love pins, we offer our most diverse collection ever.

Visit our store this summer, check out our extensive antique pin collection as well as our entire collection of antique-estate jewelry.
New additions every week.
